

The Green Bay Shoe Closet opens up sports participation to students below the poverty line. The Green Bay Shoe Closet provides proper running shoes to student athletes of limited economic means at Green Bay East and West High Schools, enabling these students to participate in running sports injury-free. These students can then reap the benefits associated with running, including a positive community, improved health, life skills and better grades.

A social worker identifies qualifying students on each school's team. After anonymously sizing the students, the Shoe Closet buys quality shoes at a greatly reduced price through connections in the shoe industry.
